

Amendments Adopted

But 'Twas Tight Squeeze
For No. 1—Many Voters
Indifferent

An unofficial tabulation by the State Election Division showed that both constitutional amendments referred to the voters in the Sep. 13 election were adopted.

Question One, providing for additional signers in petitions for referendum was adopted by an unofficial margin of 58,237 to 65,693. The Constitution calls for 10,000 signers in petitions for referendum. The amendment will provide that the number of signers must be not less than 10 percent of the total vote for governor in the last gubernatorial election before the petitions are filed.

Question Two, proposing an amendment "to regulate traveling expenses of members of the Legislature," was adopted unofficially, 77,716 to 62,236.

Its effect is to provide mileage payments to each legislator from his home to Augusta and return once a week during each session. Both will become law when the votes have been canvassed by the governor and council and the result proclaimed by Governor Horace Hildreth.

The unofficial tabulation on the Barlow and Tabb labor bills referendum confirmed the result of the tabulation election night by The Associated Press.

It showed 46,893 in favor of the Barlow bill, 13,676 in favor of the Tabb bill and 126,283 against both bills. Either bill needed at least one-third of the total vote to survive.

CAPTURED AFTER WILD CHASE

Charles Larcombe Arrested In Warren.—An Alleged Automobile Thief

Charles A. LaCombe of Rockland is held this morning on several counts involving theft of an automobile, drunken driving, failure to pay for gasoline at a local station and operating without a license.

The whole series of events took place within a half hour early last night. First, State Police were called from Libby's Esso Station at the junction of Park and Broad streets that a man had driven off without paying for $3.80 worth of gasoline. A good description of the car, a 1941 Ford gray coupe, and the license number put the troopers on the alert for the vehicle which had left the station yard in a burst of power and in the direction of Thomaston.

Sergeant Edward Gordon, newly assigned to this District, cruised the area toward Rockland in search of the car. Captain J. Edward Marks took up position on the highway opposite the barracks at Thomaston. Within a short time, a car answering the description, roared off of Thomaston village and past the barracks, nearly running down Marks who waved its driver to stop.

A short distance behind came Powers in full pursuit and the chase went into Walker's Corner and down Route 131 toward Warren. The driver of the stolen car, slowed and made a right turn into the Arthur Pease road in an effort to escape the following trooper. Powers drove him into the side of the road and made the arrest.

Found, according to Powers, to be possibly under the influence of liquor, he was brought to Rockland and given a blood test by a physician. The car was found to be registered to a Vassalboro man, Clarence Nash, who is a truck driver on a State road construction job near Thomaston, confusion as to the type of car registered to the plates and the car they were on was cleared up when the owner was located and it was found that he had five-day plates and had swapped only last Saturday.

Nash was blissfully unaware that his car had been stolen until police went to the Bay View Hotel in search for the party whom LaCombe stated had loaned him the car after they had met there. Nash stated that he had left the car on the Public Landing road while he went to his room in the hotel and that he had never seen LaCombe before and certainly had not allowed him to use the car.

City Council Notes

The City Council last night passed an ordinance establishing a commercial "E" zone on New Country Road near Belvedere street. The area is comprised of approximately four and one half acres, and is land recently purchased by B. M. Clark of Union who intends to erect a freight terminal there. Mr. Clark stated that he would erect a building 50 by 70 feet for the terminal which will have a steel frame and wooden siding for use of the Boston & Belfast Transportation Co., of which he is owner and operator.

Franklin A. Wood and Freeman S. Young were appointed to the Board of Assessment Review to fill the unexpired terms of Morris B. Perry and Ralph L. Wiggin.

Mrs. Ruth Cross was appointed to the post of assistant city clerk in the absence of Gerald U. Marzesson who is presently on vacation.

The change to Standard Time was made official by a belated act of the Council which approved the changing of the city clocks last Sunday by the City Manager.

Rooming House Fire

An Inmate, Suffering From Burns, Arrested For Intoxication

Milton Manchester of Rockland was removed from the police lockup Sunday night to Knox Hospital upon orders of the attending physician who was called by police. Arrived at the scene of the fire in the rooming house operated by Minal I. Allen at the junction of Park and Union streets on intoxication charges, he was found to be suffering from burns requiring hospital treatment.

The fire, which damaged the second story of the building and led to water damage to some extent on the ground floor, is said to have started in a second floor room occupied by Manchester. He was arrested during the fire after having been found in a bathroom in an intoxicated condition, according to Fire Chief Van E. Russell.

Salvage blankets were used to good advantage on the ground floor to prevent damage to furnishings of the apartments. Chief Russell set damage at approximately $1000.

House Total Loss

Fire Destroys the Karl Ross Dwelling On Buttermilk Lane

The house on the farm of Karl Ross on Buttermilk Lane was destroyed by fire late Sunday night. Fire Chief Edwin A. Anderson of Thomaston attributes the fire to a carelessly discarded cigarette in the shed where the fire is believed by him to have started.

The occupant of the house, Paul H. Graisbury, was charged in Municipal Court Monday morning with intoxication and disturbing the peace by Deputy Sheriff Edgar Libby. Libby and Anderson testified that he was drunk and repeatedly interfered with the firemen. Found guilty, he was fined $10 and costs of court of $5.

The barns of the farm were not reached by the flames, but two hog pens caught afire and sparks started grass fires which were extinguished.

Chief Anderson considers the house a total loss. The greater part of the furniture in the dwelling was removed by volunteer workers before the fire reached it.

The town of Haskell, Ariz., was named for Oklahoma's first governor, Charles N. Haskell (1907-11).

KATHLEEN STEPHENS FULLER

The late Kathleen Stephens Fuller, known to thousands of The Courier-Gazette's readers as "K. S. F."

Kathleen (Stephens) Fuller, widow of the late William Oliver Fuller, and president of The Courier-Gazette, died Friday afternoon at her home, 25 Talbot avenue, after suffering many months from a combination of diseases which transformed her from a person of unusual vigor into a sorely afflicted woman. She bore her condition with remarkable courage, and maintained her keen mental capacity to the last.

Mrs. Fuller was a Kansan—born in Baldwin, Jan. 30, 1869, to Thomas R. and Sophia Stephens. There she came in contact with men and women of national prominence and during her long residence in Rockland never ceased to have a tender regard for the memories of her homeland, where her education, in part, was attained at Baker University.

She was married to Mr. Fuller, then owner and editor of The Courier-Gazette, March 29, 1892. Life in her new Rockland home was rendered doubly happy with the completion, in 1904, of the new residence at the corner of Lincoln and Beech streets known as "Pickwick Place" thus named because of Mr. Fuller's great admiration for the English author, Charles Dickens, whose estate he had visited during one of his early tours of Europe. His Dickens collection in "Pickwick Place" was without equal in this State, and possibly New England.

Tragedy, never to be forgotten, came to the Fullers, Sept. 10, 1929, with the accidental drowning of their beloved son, Richard Stearns Fuller, while engaged in an act of heroism at one of the Massachusetts beaches.

Mr. Fuller, senior, died Sept. 21, 1941, after a brilliant career, as editor, publisher, humorist and lecturer. The tender care which he received from Mrs. Fuller during his long period of invalidism was one of the beautiful things in a life of marked domestic happiness.

Feeling that it was her mission to "carry on," and that it would fulfill her late husband's desire, Mrs. Fuller succeeded to his desk without loss of time, and until ill health prevented it, the stamp of her influence was felt by this newspaper. Two departments became distinctly hers—Book Reviews and the "This and That" column. Literature, ancient and modern, claimed her closest attention, and her reviews won much praise from the publishers.

"This and That," showed careful research among the country's leading newspapers, coupled with her own terse and timely comment, flavored to a marked extent by her religious teachings. She had prepared copy so far ahead that the column has continued to run months after she was unable to supply new material.

She was a close reader of The Courier-Gazette columns—free to criticize when she felt that a change of policy might make for improvement, and equally generous with her praise when she felt it might be deserved. And she was a staunch upholder of her late husband's refusal to publish liquor advertisements.

Social life found her a member of the Dorcas Club; music a member of the Rubinstein Club; poetical, a member of the American Academy of Poetry; she was a member and staunch supporter of the First Baptist Church, and the Knox County General Hospital Board of Directors, and a loyal worker for the Home For Aged Women.

She became keenly interested in "Montpelier," the memorial to Gen. Henry Knox, and was largely instrumental in furnishing that structure. Her whole life was actuated by the desire to help better her community in ways she thought fitting.

Mrs. Fuller is survived by three stepchildren—Commander Douglas W. Fuller, U.S.N., retired, of Palm Springs, Calif.; Donald H. Fuller of Rockland, and Mrs. Howard G. Philbrook of Shelburne, N. H., and a brother, Dr. Stephens, living in the West.

Also surviving are Mrs. Fuller's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Edward L. McKay; the following grandchildren, Mrs. Jay McMasters, W. O. Fuller, Richard Fuller, Douglas A. Philbrook, Granville Philbrook, Elizabeth P. Ingraham, Nathan Fuller, and Elizabeth F. Thierien, and eight great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at the Burpee parlors, Rev. J. Charles MacDonald officiating. The Courier-Gazette force attended in a body. Among others present were friends with whom the deceased had been on especially intimate terms since her advent in Rockland. The floral offerings included a number of beautiful set pieces.

The active bearers were R. L. Anderson, S. L. Cullen, F. R. Pinkerton, K. I. Orcutt, S. D. Barbour, and Alan Wilkie. Honorary bearers were: F. A. Winslow, J. M. Richardson, H. G. Cole, J. W. Robinson, O. F. Hills and N. S. Perry.

Committal services at the cemetery were conducted by Mr. MacDonald.

New Prison Warden

J. Wallace Lovell, Who Served In South Pacific,
Succeeds McCabe

J. Wallace Lovell, Harrison, State Parole officer, was recommended to Governor Hildreth and the Executive Council Friday to be warden of the Maine State Prison.

The Council took no immediate action on the recommendation, presented by Institutional Commissioner Harrison C. Greenleaf.

Lovell was considered in 1946 before Francis J. McCabe was appointed in April. McCabe was confirmed and sworn in Friday as State Police Chief.

Lovell, 41-year-old Lewiston native, was an investigator for the State Welfare Department four years before entering the army. He was serving as lieutenant with the National Guard when it was federalized in 1941.

He rose to lieutenant Colonel, participating in landings on Guam, Leyte, Okinawa and others. He returned to the parole officer post upon his discharge.

McCabe's New Job

Francis J. McCabe, Maine State Prison Warden, was confirmed by the Executive Council and sworn in by Governor Horace Hildreth as Chief of the Maine State Police.

The 39-year-old Berwick man was on leave from a State Police lieutenant's position.

McCabe will succeed Col. Laurence C. Upton of Millbridge as chief when Upton retires Oct. 2.

He has spent 14 years with the State Police, five of them on military leave and two and a half on leave in the prison position.

Before and after his Army service, from which he emerged as a colonel, McCabe was director of the State Police Division on Traffic and Safety.

Ran Over Child

Rockland Man Figures In Unavoidable Tragedy At North Penobscot

William Sansom of 33 North Main street, Rockland, was operator of a car which caused fatal injuries to Wayne M. Galen, two and one-half years of age, on Route 15 in North Penobscot about six and one-half miles from Bluehill at 5:45 p. m., Saturday. The child, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Galen of North Penobscot, is reported to have died from injuries received in the accident at the Bluehill Hospital at 10:15 p. m., the same day.

State Trooper Wentworth Wessel of Brooksville, who investigated the accident, states that Sansom is reported by witnesses to have been driving at a moderate rate of speed at the time. He describes the accident as one in which the child ran into the car as he chased his older sister across the State highway, running with his head down and not aware of the car bearing down on him.

Wessel said that there would be no further action in the matter as far as he was concerned as he classified it as an unavoidable accident in which the driver was blameless.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, the President of the United States, by virtue of an Act of Congress, and Gov. Hildreth have designated the calendar week of October 3d to 9th for the observance of the nation and State as a week to focus the attention of the citizens and especially employers of labor to the sympathetic consideration of men and women who are physically disabled and need employment, and

WHEREAS, many of them were disabled in defending our Country in World Wars I and II, and

WHEREAS, a helpful hand should be extended to these worthy but unfortunate persons.

NOW THEREFORE, I Osgood A. Gilbert, Chairman of the City Council of the City of Rockland proclaim the week of October third to ninth as a time to give thoughtful consideration to employment of the physically handicapped, to the end that they may enjoy an independent livelihood. May we all do our full duty in this worthy cause. Given under my hand and the seal of the City of Rockland this first day of October in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and forty-eight.

Osgood A. Gilbert,
Chairman of the City Council of Rockland.

THE BLACK CAT

By The Roving Reporter

George I. Leonard reports the presence of two large bears and two cubs near his homestead at The Ridge. The Bog appears to be getting a little more than its share of notoriety.

Rockland may brag of huge sea turtles, but leave it to Bar Harbor to go them one better. Manuel Young of McKinley found a monster weighing 800 pounds snarled up in his lobster gear while hauling traps off Great Duck Island. His father in a nearby boat, and another fisherman, gave him a hand and the turtle was securely tied to Young's craft, then hauled to harbor. The ocean visitor, usually observed only far at sea, was a thing of curiosity as the captors permitted it to strut for awhile on the beach. Then it was taken into the water again, and towed out behind a scow and lobster car. Plenty of good soup in that fellow if you like the slimy gray stuff.—Lewiston Journal.

A jailed burglar in Auburn asked that the police protect his home from thieves while he was incarcerated. What! no honor among thieves?

Aptitude Tests

Will Be Given Candidates
For the Government-
Subsidized College Education

College aptitude tests for the selection of approximately 2300 candidates for 1949 college scholarships under the Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps program will be Dec. 11. The deadline for submitting applications for the tests, is Nov. 15, 1948.

Candidates selected will be given a four-year, Government-subsidized college education. The Navy Department pays for their tuition, books, and normal college fees, and in addition, provides the student with a $50.00 a month living allowance.

Male High School Seniors and graduates between the ages of 17 and 21 are eligible to take the aptitude tests. Application blanks and complete information concerning the program are available from high school principals, college deans, professors of naval science in colleges and universities, Naval Officer Procurement offices, and Navy recruiting stations throughout the country.

In addition to the aptitude tests, candidates must meet prescribed physical and mental standards.

The candidates selected will begin the Fall, 1949 term at one of the 52 colleges and universities in which NROTC units are established. In return for this scholarship, the NROTC student is obliged to participate in naval drills and cruises, and upon graduation, to accept a commission in the Regular Navy or Marine Corps, if qualified. After two years of active duty, he may elect to transfer to the appropriate Reserve Corps and return to civilian life, or he may request retention in the regular service, and if selected, make the Navy or Marine Corps his career.

The use of envelopes for mailing purposes began about 100 years ago.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

If I had my life to live again I would have made a rule to read some poetry and listen to some music at least once a week. The loss of these tastes is a loss of happiness.—Charles Darwin.

MUSIC

How many of us stop to think of music as a wondrous, magic link with God; taking, sometimes, the place of prayer.

When words have failed us 'neath the weight of care.

Bringing relief to over-burdened souls: Giving us courage so to play the roles Assigned to us, we need not fear the end.

Music, our comforter and constant friend.

Music, that has the power to bring the tears

To eyes long dry these many years.

Music, which joy finds expression best:

Music, the meeting-ground of East and West.

The leveller of all upon life's stage.

Of potentate and beggar, youth and age.

Music, that knows no country, race or creed.

But gives to each according to his need.

—Eleanor S. Mackenzie.

Remember — ABILITY not disability COUNTS

Before you, Mr. Employer, is a man who fought on the Beachheads of Tarawa or Anzio, who flew over bomb-gutted Tokio or fought in the Coral Sea. He is one of hundreds of thousands who marched in the Purple Heart Parade. Today he is an American looking for a job. Behind him are the hardships and dangers of war, the weary months in the hospital, and the long days of training for employment. Ahead of him is a future that is in your hands. What you do with his future is important to him, and to you!

MAN WANTED—We need hard-hitting veterans. We've hired many of them since V-J day. It pays off. Some aren't the same physically as they were before a Kamikaze attack off Okinawa, a shell burst below Cassino, or flak and flame over Kasserine Pass. Some have lost an arm or leg or eye. Others have hidden disabilities. But we have found these disabilities are not handicaps when we place them properly. Their efficiency and productive ability have saved us money. We need more workers of this type. We will continue to hire them throughout the year.

Signed: AN AMERICAN EMPLOYER

HELP WANTED—We'd like that job you have, Mr. Employer. There're more than a quarter of a million of us either actively looking for work or soon to leave hospitals or finish our training. There are many jobs we can fill capably. We know that surveys show that our fellow disabled veterans have been as efficient on the job as other workers, that they have had fewer accidents and have been reliable workers. We've put away that Purple Heart. Today we'll take our chances on that job you've got. We think you need us and we know we need you. We'll get your work done. And while we're doing that we'll pay for our homes and raise our families.

Recreational Wants

Appeal For Games, Equipment, Etc., Remains Unanswered

The appeal recently by Director Mike DiRenzo of the city recreational program for old games, athletic equipment and other articles usable in the program for children of all ages fell down miserably. Mike reports that not one item was received and points out that the materials are sorely needed to further activities at the building.

Surely, there must be games, athletic articles, etc., in homes all over the city that are no longer of use to the family. These same items, dug out of the attic and brushed up a little, would save several hundreds of dollars in outfitting the game rooms and gym of the building and would give an opportunity for many, many children to enjoy their afternoons and evenings after school under skilled supervision.

The Elks, Kiwanis, Rotary, Lions and PTA are working hard to raise funds to finance the program and the gift of needed items would greatly help their efforts.

DiRenzo is at the building each afternoon and evening and will welcome donors with their gifts at any time.

Getting Under Way

Recreational Program At the Community Building Sees Attendance Of 1133 First Week

The Community Building recreational program under Director Mike DiRenzo got off to a good start last week with an attendance of 1133 youngsters Monday through Friday. The week's activities wound up Friday night with the first social of the season with an attendance of 350 plus. Music was furnished through recordings loaned by the Maine Music Co.

Friday afternoon, a girl's bowling league was formed with 50 girls signing up for the winter program. A weekly pingpong tournament will be run throughout the winter. Winner of last week's contest was Dino Galiano.

The building is open to school children of all ages in a supervised program from 3:30 to 9:30 daily Monday through Friday and on Saturdays.

A student council group of six participants in the program will be selected by DiRenzo next Monday afternoon. This group will serve as a test of the contemplated governing of the students in the program by chosen members of the group. Should this test work well for the next eight weeks, a general election will be held with 14 students choosing their own council for the remainder of the school year.

The summer sessions of the recreational program, which ended on Sept. 1, showed a total of 5598 children taking advantage of the program for an average of 622 weekly. The swimming classes saw a total of 1521 swimmers, making the 19 trips to Chickawaukie Lake.

THE REPUBLICAN TICKET

For President—Thomas E. Dewey of New York
For Vice President—Earl Warren of California

[EDITORIAL]

A NOBLE HANDFUL

What changes time has wrought. After the Civil War thousands attended the National Encampments, which were held in various parts of the country, and Rockland, incidentally, was always represented. This week the 82d annual encampment is being held in Grand Rapids, Mich., with half a dozen of the aging veterans in attendance, representing the nation's 38 survivors. All honor to that little handful, some of whom are well past the century mark, but who cling nobly to the traditions of the Grand Army of the Republic.

THE LOUISIANA BALLOT

Well, it appears that President Truman's name is going on the Louisiana ballot after all, but without being officially listed as a Democrat. The election returns from this State as well as all others in the Not So Solid South, will be read with uncommon interest Nov. 3.

NEW ENGLAND DELIRIUM

Although it had long been evident that the Boston Braves were going to win the National League pennant it took Elliott's home run Sunday to make the achievement a certainty. The Hub and all of its spokes are delirious with joy, their cup would runneth over if the Red Sox could capture the American League pennant. New England is happy but thousands upon thousands of New Englanders are destined to bitter disappointment because they will be unable to obtain the necessary pastebards. "Sorry!" says the Braves' management.

"OUR FRIENDS, THE GULLS"

There appears to be a diversity of opinion regarding the value of seagulls. Certainly the "Welcome" mat is not put down by the owner of blueberry lands or the unwary pedestrian. But the graceful birds which frequent the seashore have their champions, and one of them is Editor Niven of the Brunswick Record, who says:

"It's hard to believe that anyone who lives along the seacoast isn't aware that gulls are indeed the friends of mankind. Noisy and messy though they may be at times, they are scavengers who do thorough jobs of devouring and cleaning up the masses of dead fish, garbage, etc., which abound along our shores. Were not these decaying materials thus removed, they would be a continuing menace to the very health of people in seacoast communities. Recognizing this, the authorities have wisely provided heavy penalties for shooting or otherwise destroying gulls."

"Unfortunately, right along our Harpswell and Brunswick shores, a few malicious men and boys persist in shooting gulls. In fact, some of them have been seen and probably recognized, so that it is to be hoped that this warning will cause them to stop their destructive practice—lest they come in for real penalties and punishment. True friends are priceless assets. The gull is such a friend. Let's treat him as we would, indeed, a human friend."

THE FREEDOM TRAIN ENCORE

Freedom Train, which started out from Philadelphia on Sept. 7, 1947, completed last week its first 12 months of operation. It is announced that the train has visited 47 States, and that West Virginia, the 48th, will probably be covered in the near future. In its grand circuit of the country over 2,700,000 people have viewed the train's collection of the historic documents that are our nation's birthright and the charters of a free people's rights and liberties. The year's achievement of Freedom Train is one of which its sponsor, the American Heritage Foundation, can well be proud.

Freedom Train was in Manhattan, the Bronx and Brooklyn for five days last September. Crowds stood in line for hours in their eagerness to see the priceless documents. The visitors were of many races and creeds. They exhibited, in what was an awe and quiet worship, the respect of the world's peoples for the concepts of freedom upon which this nation was founded, and the laws under which it has lived.

We believe that while Freedom Train is still intact, the disappointed throngs who failed of entering the red, white and blue cars should have another chance. A second visit to this city—the largest and most many-raced in the nation—is plainly in order if the mission of the American Heritage Foundation is to have its complete fulfillment. There were, it can be stated literally, hundreds of thousands of children in the New York area who never saw the priceless cargo which the train brought for so brief a stay. In their young name and that of an elder citizenship, we hope that the foundation can arrange to have Freedom Train roll once more into a welcoming city.—Herald Tribune.

Last Quarter Rally

Tigers Made Brilliant Finish Against Skowhegan's Too Strong Lead

The Rockland High School Tigers showed a scrappiness against Skowhegan High last Saturday which won the admiration of even their opponents in what was a demonstration of what a team can produce in the way of fighting spirit.

A beaten team, apparently, with Skowhegan having a 32-0 advantage going into the final quarter, the Tigers ripped off two touchdowns and added an extra point in the closing minutes of the game to set the last tally at 33-13 in Skowhegan's favor.

A short pass from Deshon to Foote set Foote off on a 39-yard dash which carried him across the goal line and earned Rockland's first tally. The extra point try, a pass, failed. A short time later, Quarterback Dick Kaler pulled a quarterback sneak close into the goal and rolled up another score. Just to prove that it could be done, he pulled the same stunt a moment later to gain the extra point.

The scores of the two teams were a long way apart at the end of the game but the credit for fight and team spirit could not be claimed by the high scorers alone. Skowhegan, one of the best teams in the State, scored twice in the first quarter and picked up the extra point. The third quarter saw another score and no extra point to set the score at 20-0 at the end of the half. The third quarter produced 13 points for the inland lads and their final scores.

Arranging Schedule

And the Community Bowling League Will Soon Be Under Way

Plans for the winter program of the Community Bowling League are going into the final stages and will be completed at a meeting scheduled for Wednesday night. The meeting of the officers of the 16 teams entered will be held at the Community Building at 7 p. m. Wednesday, according to Secretary-Treasurer Oliver Holden.

The Community Building alleys have been renovated to care for the winter-long league program which will start with the first matches on October 5. The schedule is so arranged that each of the teams will bowl all others at least twice during the season.

The full schedule of matches will be published as soon as it receives official approval of the league officials and team captains.

A Whaling Finish

But Waldoboro Did Most Of the Whaling, In Warren Sunday

The final baseball game of the season, in Knox County, was played in Warren Sunday, and was a sad ending for the home fans who saw Waldoboro take the contest by the lopsided score of 15 to 5.

It was practically an even contest for six innings, after which the corners of the field and walked visitors plastered the ball to all away with the game.

Warren found Don Bowman for 10 hits, but the widemen from Waldoboro gathered 21 off the luckless Warren cluster.

The game was marked by two home runs—one by Boman and one by Arnold Robinson. Nobody happened to be aboard in either instance. Waldoboro .. 0 1 3 2 0 0 2 4 3-15 Warren .. 1 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1-5

Base hits, Waldoboro 21, Warren 10. Errors, Waldoboro 1, Warren 5. Batteries, Bowman and Sprague; French, Halligan, Ives and Hanna.

HIGH-SCHOOL HIGHLIGHTS

Last Wednesday, Prof. Thacker of Boston University administered tests to the Junior class. These are designed to test the special abilities and aptitudes of High School pupils. The results will be used in counseling students concerning their careers and aptitudes for special training after High School. About 125 High Schools in New England make use of this testing service. Boston University absorbs part of the cost in an effort to help the young people of this area.

Many plans are being formulated by the Seniors who are in charge of the Freshman reception. The details of this annual event are being kept secret. Only one committee at this time divulges its membership. This committee with Ronald Thurston as chairman is in charge of the floor show. Mr. Thurston's assistants are: Beverly Brewer, Verna Waldron, Charles Heino and John Benson.

Meet the New Teachers

Everett Meader was born in Ellsworth and graduated from Gilman High School, Northeast Harbor. Mr. Meader also graduated from Washington State Normal School, Machias, and from the University of Maine in 1941. He served four and one-half years in the United States Army. In 1947 he returned to the University of Maine for graduate work in History and Government, and last year served as Social Studies teacher and coach at Princeton High School. Mr. Meader is teaching History and Social Studies in Rockland High School.

Miss Lucille Koster is the new school treasurer of Rockland High School.

Mrs. Glenice Farmer and Mrs. Robert Hybels substituted in Junior High recently.

Mrs. Smith and Mr. Adams were absent Friday.

A 15-minute rally was held on Friday afternoon in preparation for the game with Skowhegan. The cheerleaders did their usual excellent work in training the school to cheer correctly.

Mrs. Dorman treated the teachers to coffee last week every noon at lunch. The menus for the week were: Monday, spam, mashed potatoes, spinach, bread and butter, milk, salad and cake; Tuesday, sphagetti, beans, beets, bread and butter, milk, pineapple and peanut butter cookies; Wednesday, baked beans, cabbage salad, hot rolls and butter, milk, brownies and ice cream; Thursday, vegetable soup, milk, peanut butter sandwiches, crackers, pickles and cake; Friday, fried fish, mashed potatoes, squash, milk, and bread and butter and cookies.

Ina Bickford and Muriel Harlow assisted Mr. Clunie in the office this week. The office messengers were: Ann Blood, Ann Ludwig, Adelaide Bartlett, Alice Lunt, Peter Surek, Barry Sawyer, Mary LaGrossa, and Patricia Bisbee.

"History Bees" were conducted in Miss Hughes' History Classes this week. The winners were: Room 5, Paul Merriam; Room 8, Robert Crie; Room 11, Gail Grant; Room 9, Ellen Sulides; Room 10, Betty Grover; Room 12, Charlotte Brackett.

Auction-Bazaar

Grand Charitable Event Is Planned By Legion and Elks Lodge

Great progress is being made in preparation for the big three-day auction and bazaar, sponsored by Winslow-Holbrook-Merrill Post, A. L. and Rockland Lodge of Elks. What is believed to be the greatest charitable event ever to be attempted in this section will take place Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, October 20, 21 and 22, at Rockland Community Building.

Fred Black, Elks trustee, and Irving Curtis, American Legion commander, acting directors of the auction and bazaar, said last Friday night at a committee meeting that donations are being received daily from all parts of the country, and enthusiasm is rising rapidly as more and more donated products roll in for the auction.

At the next committee meeting Friday night at 7.30, it is requested all ladies of the American Legion Auxiliary, wives of Legionnaires and Elks wives, interested in helping on this worthy cause, meet in the lodge room of the Elks Home.

One of the main attractions of the auction and bazaar will be the beano party to be held on the last night. This will be without a doubt the grandest beano ever held in Rockland. There will be a wide variety and abundance of prizes which will be on display throughout the entire three days.

Adding to the auction, which in itself is an interesting occasion, there will be several kinds of entertainment, a diversion which will appeal to young and old alike. There will be an amateur show each evening, with a final contest for the winners on the last night. There also will be professional vaudeville acts, representing some of the better stage shows in New England. It is rumored that there will be a fashion show held the last two nights, featuring the latest Fall and Winter fashions—a must for all ladies.

It is quite unusual today to find a bit of relaxation that doesn't cost more than the average person can afford. The Legion-Elks auction and bazaar not only admits you free of charge for three days' fun and entertainment, but also offers prizes, some with no obligation whatsoever. Prizes will be published at a later date.

Monday, the trial of Nathan Peasley of Rockland on charges of driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor, was continued to Tuesday morning to permit the defense to introduce the testimony of a physician who was said to have attended Peasley at Knox Hospital after an accident from which the charges arose.

Rockland Police Sergeant Jacobson stated that he investigated an accident near the antique barn on New County Road in which a car operated by Peasley had been in collision with another owned and operated by Massachusetts parties, about 2 p.m. Sept. 5.

Robert W. Maki of Cushing pleaded guilty to drunken driving on Camden street in Rockland at 1.15 a.m. Sept. 26 and paid a fine of $100 and costs of $7.00.

Paul H. Grauborg of Thomaston was fined $10 and costs on charges of intoxication and disturbing the peace at a fire at the farm of Karl Ross on Buttermilk Lane Sunday night.

O, let the old things go without regret: Try to forget them as I do the rain. When sunlight floods from sky to earth, and yet Changing the honey things may cause some pain;

O, let the old things go: 'new ones are here. Better, perhaps, than anything before: But memory marks the used-to and the dear;

Rugs, chairs and tables comforting the floor;
O, let the old things go and never mind: The ultra, decor, and new-look behold! Just why the heartbeat slows and seems to bind.

Is something else now that the old one's sold;
O, let the old things go! O, let them go And close the thought to everything they meant.

Maine's Assistant Attorney General Discusses Estate Taxes

Estate taxes, joint tenancy, and living trusts, were highlighted by an interesting and instructive talk given by Hon. Boyd Bailey at the weekly meeting.

Charles T. Smalley completed a fine list of programs for his month of September by introducing the Assistant Attorney General of Maine, in charge of the Department of Inheritance Taxation.

Mr. Bailey held the close attention of the large number of members and guests in attendance as he explained the development of Legislation in our State as it has changed through the years in coming to us from the original Feudal laws of ancient England.

He gave many illustrations of the application of present rulings to such matters as joint tenancy, which our courts do not favor, and the disappointments which follow the placing of investments and bank deposits in the names of two or more, payable at death to the survivor and clearly discussed the one exception in the law which recognizes such deposits when limited to $3000 and interest in those cases where the relation of husband and wife or parent and child, exist.

Incidentally the speaker referred to the constantly increasing tendency of creating joint tenancies, probably accelerated by the widespread purchase of Government bonds. He stressed the fact all doubt and confusion may be eliminated by the execution of a will; "otherwise," said the speaker "one must abide that which Legislature makes; the laws the intestacy."

Estate taxes in those cases where assets exceed $60,000, of which the Federal Government has jurisdiction, and living trusts and proceeds of insurance policies payable

AT Camp Edith Macy
Mrs. Virginia Macy, St.
George Scout Leader, Re-
lates Her Experiences

The following report has been received by the Girl Scout Committee of St. George. All those who so generously contributed toward making it possible to send a leader to National Girl Scout Camp for Leaders, will be especially interested in Mrs. Kinney's report. She writes:

"I wish to thank my Troop Committee and all others who helped to make possible my trip to Camp Edith Macy. It was an experience I shall never forget. I learned many things to help in my work as a Scout leader, but even more I enjoyed the fellowship of this group of women from many different countries and different walks of life. It was very evident that you don't have to be young or possess a college degree to do a good job in Scouting. A majority of the women there were housewives and mothers, even several grandmothers.

Thirty girls and women were enrolled in the leadership-of-any-troop course, representing five countries and eight States. Through the camp nearly every State in the Union was represented, plus two more countries. In during which they will visit Lake Champlain and Canada. On their return they will make their home for a time with her mother, Mrs. Levere Jones in Warren.

Mrs. Buzzell, only daughter of Mrs. Levere Jones, and the late Mr. Jones, was graduated from Warren High School in 1941, and more recently from the Golden School of Beauty Culture of Portland. She is a member of the Second Congregational Church of Warren, and of Warren Grange.

Mr. Buzzell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Buzzell of Camden. He attended Rockport schools, and saw service for more than three years in the U. S. Army Air Force, one and one-half years of that time overseas. Since receiving an honorable discharge, he has been employed in the shipyard division of General Sea Foods, Rockland. He is a member of the Camden Lodge, F. A. M.

Arthur C. Young Honored
Arthur C. Young, 63, employee of the dry finish department at the Georges River Woolen Mill, since 1906, a period of 42 years, retired from that position Friday. The 21 employees of that department, including the overseer, Joseph Pellerin, joined to do him honor at a special party in the dry finishing room, arrangements being made by Mrs. Flora Chapman. Mr. Young was presented the gift of a three-way floor lamp, and refreshments of punch, sandwiches and cake served on two perch tables, placed together for the purpose.

Mr. Young has operated the shear for many years, though when first employed at the mill he was operator of the press. In the early 1900's, the work week amounted to 60 hours, as compared to 40 now, unless there is over time. The day crew left at 5:15 P. M. at night, and six days were put in, closing time Saturdays, at 3:45 P. M. In those early years, the employee on that particular machine was paid $16.20, every other week, making a week's pay amount to $8.10.

Up to 1930, men's wear was made in the mill, stock dyed. Since 1930, the mill has made women's coatings and suitings, and the material is piece dyed.

Mr. Young, who bought his present home on the Oyster River Road 37 years ago, used to ride to and from work on the Rockland, Thomaston and Camden Street Railway, and after that service was discontinued rode for a few years with his son, Donald. Later, he bought a car to go to and from work, a distance of about three miles one way.

For over 40 years, he remembers working for Thomas Simpson, Arthur Torrey, Mr. Midwood, Jack Hughes, Henry Leighton, George Taylor, Mr. Featherstone, James Gannon and Henry Caldicie. Incidentally, Mr. Young and his wife, the former Lura Wyllie, observed their 42nd wedding anniversary last June. They have one son, Donald, of Waldoboro, and two grandchildren. Their younger son, Reginald, died 23 years ago, aged 11. Vernon Mank of Waldoboro is taking Mr. Young's place on the shear.

Mrs. Virginia Macy, St.
George Scout Leader, Re-
lates Her Experiences

The following report has been received by the Girl Scout Committee of St. George. All those who so generously contributed toward making it possible to send a leader to National Girl Scout Camp for Leaders, will be especially interested in Mrs. Kinney's report. She writes:

"I wish to thank my Troop Committee and all others who helped to make possible my trip to Camp Edith Macy. It was an experience I shall never forget. I learned many things to help in my work as a Scout leader, but even more I enjoyed the fellowship of this group of women from many different countries and different walks of life. It was very evident that you don't have to be young or possess a college degree to do a good job in Scouting. A majority of the women there were housewives and mothers, even several grandmothers.

Thirty girls and women were enrolled in the leadership-of-any-troop course, representing five countries and eight States. Through the camp nearly every State in the Union was represented, plus two more countries. In

The high incidence of rabies among dogs, foxes, and cattle in central New York and its gradual spread through that region, brought more than 1,000 specimens for diagnosis last year to the diagnostic laboratory, New York State Veterinary college at Cornell. The Cornell laboratory, according to its director, Dr. W. M. Evans, is the largest one of five accredited in the state for the purpose, handling more than 70 per cent of the work. The laboratory is necessary, he says, because while many persons believe rabies can be detected by mere observation of an animal, brain examination is really the only reliable method. Other diseases give similar symptoms, and it is especially important to be sure of diagnosis as someone's life may be at stake. To the Cornell laboratory in the three years since the rabies outbreak has been serious, have gone specimens of dogs, foxes, cattle, raccoons, and practically every other animal native to the state, including bats. Of these, the vector reports more than 50 per cent were rabid.

Seventy percent of the nation's dresses, coats, blouses and furs for women are manufactured in New York State.

Roquefort Cheese Produced In France's Darkest Caves

Roquefort cheese is named after a village in southwestern France built at the foot of a rockslide. Main industry of this village is the production of its famous cheese.

Fifteen hundred of the 1,900 inhabitants of the village are engaged in the production of this product, which is made of sheep's milk.

The work of producing and maturing the cheese goes on underground, in caves, where the average temperature is 37 degrees Fahrenheit the year around.

The men who supervise the production of Roquefort cheese are members of one of the tightest monopolies in the world. Directors of this organization were considerably upset because, during the war, there appeared in the United States a cheese labeled "American Roquefort."

Often during the occupation of France the Germans visited Roquefort, usually in search of tin foil supplies, but they never succeeded in requisitioning the Roquefort society's five-year supply, which was hidden in one of the remotest and darkest caves.

The people of Roquefort claim that the canyon-like fissures of the caves where the cheese is made, provide the natural air-conditioning which gives the cheese its peculiar properties.

Diagnosis in Rabies

The high incidence of rabies among dogs, foxes, and cattle in central New York and its gradual spread through that region, brought more than 1,000 specimens for diagnosis last year to the diagnostic laboratory, New York State Veterinary college at Cornell. The Cornell laboratory, according to its director, Dr. W. M. Evans, is the largest one of five accredited in the state for the purpose, handling more than 70 per cent of the work. The laboratory is necessary, he says, because while many persons believe rabies can be detected by mere observation of an animal, brain examination is really the only reliable method. Other diseases give similar symptoms, and it is especially important to be sure of diagnosis as someone's life may be at stake. To the Cornell laboratory in the three years since the rabies outbreak has been serious, have gone specimens of dogs, foxes, cattle, raccoons, and practically every other animal native to the state, including bats. Of these, the vector reports more than 50 per cent were rabid.

Seventy percent of the nation's dresses, coats, blouses and furs for women are manufactured in New York State.

Scorns Judge Hughes

Spruce Head Woman Rejects His Bible Reading Ideas

Spruce Head, Sept. 23.

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—It was with a mixture of feelings hard to describe, that I read the item of Frank Hughes' views on Bible reading and morning devotions in our public schools.

He calls it "immoral and illegal." I did not know a man like him existed. If he chooses to be an atheist let him keep his doctrine to himself. We do not want him to flaunt it before our children.

There are too many cases where it is deplorable, that were it not for the Christian teachings in school, a great many children would not know there was a God and they would grow up to be men like Mr. Hughes seems to be.

In all of our lodges, Granges, and other organizations, almost every assembly I know of "The Lord's Prayer" is a faithful ritual. I have attended city schools and country schools in my time and in every one we were taught to bow our heads and repeat after the teacher The Lord's Prayer and listen while she read from the Bible. I can see now the pitted ends of the little girls and the shining faces of the little boys as they sat bowed in deep reverence.

Are we going to let a man like Mr. Hughes break down our standards of living that have been handed down from mother to daughter, and from father to son through the ages?

I cannot understand Mr. Hughes, after having risen to the rank of Judge, where he is able to pronounce punishment on others to be so warped and distorted in his own ideas, when the very courts of which he represents are based on the very things he seems to be so firmly against.

I would like to see this discussed more fully by parents and teachers. Meantime, I would suggest Mr. Hughes take the advice of Horace Greeley.

Mrs. Margaret Elwell.

No sportsman would destroy the woods he hunts in . . .

FEW HUNTERS REALIZE that when they are taking careful aim at an electric insulator for a practice shot, they might just as well be tossing a lighted cigarette into some underbrush. For broken insulators cause short circuits . . . and short circuits can cause serious fires.

We are all anxious to avoid further severe losses from forest fires in Maine this year, but it will take whole-hearted cooperation from everyone to prevent them. You can help by not using electric insulators for targets. At the same time many communities will be spared the inconvenience, the loss of homes, farm stock and possibly even human lives resulting from forest fires and interruption of electric service.

Let's do everything we can to keep Maine green.

RECALLING DAYS OF YORE

Former Camden Man Preserves Interesting History of the Penobscot Valley

(By Frank H. Miller)
(Chapter Eight)

Gen. Thatcher, who became a leading citizen, came to Warren about 1800 and was elected to Congress within the next year. It is interesting to read how the city of Washington appeared to him when he first visited it in 1801. He said:

"The seat of government in Washington had been removed from Philadelphia the year before and the next door neighbors had to go through woods to make calls, but a single wing of the Capitol had been built and nearly the whole of Pennsylvania avenue was a deep swamp covered with alder bushes. Excepting the White House, a portion of which was unfinished, the city contained hardly a comfortable habitation."

It was here that Mr. Thatcher formed the acquaintance of Jefferson Burr, Hamilton, Marshall and others prominent in a generation that belongs only to history. He moved to Bangor in 1833 and died in Bangor on July 13, 1872. Thatcher street in that city is named for him.

To us, it seems as though the people have always had a chance to go into a telegraph office and send a message anywhere in the world, but it is only since the middle of the Nineteenth Century that this has been possible. When some great event or tragedy has taken place, it has often been two or three weeks before we would hear of it up in this part of the country. When George Washington died, it was about two weeks before the news reached this section.

When hearings and demonstrations on the installation of the telegraph were held in different towns along the coast one would be surprised at the opposition that would be shown to what they chose to call, "some new fangled idea to get the people's money away from them."

At first they strung the wires through holes in the poles, instead of using the glass insulators which we have today. A story is told of a man attending a hearing given by some of the promoters who asked about how a message was sent by telegraph. Upon being informed it was sent on the wire, he told them he could see how a message could be carried on the wire by electricity, but when it went through the hole in the pole, he couldn't see what prevented it being torn all to pieces.

Before we go back to the Penobscot Bay towns, we must stop a few moments at Thomaston, where Gov. Henry Knox, one of the best known personages of the early days, came after the Revolution and built the mansion "Montpelier."

Many people along Penobscot Bay and inland had no clear title to their property, previous to the ownership of the Waldo patent. Henry Knox married Miss Lucy Pluker, daughter of Hon. Thomas Pluker, a man of wealth and influence in Boston, in June, 1744. The bride's father was secretary of the province under British General Gage and her brother was a captain in the British Army. The marriage took place with the bride, a Tory, knowing her husband leaned strongly to freedom and the Colonies.

At the start of the conflict, Knox sold his book store in Boston and entered the Army. He could not keep aloof from it, regardless of wealth and friends. The trip he made to Ticonderoga in the Winter of 1775-76 bringing back the heavy artillery over the frozen lakes and mountains for the defense of Boston, is well known to history.

This service was appreciated by Gen. Washington and by Congress, who, upon Knox's return from the expedition appointed him to the command of all heavy artillery of the army. He held this command during the war and he finished the conflict as a Major General, second only to Commander-in-Chief.

So appreciative was Washington for Gen. Knox's services that he chose him to receive the sword of the British General, Cornwallis, when he was forced to surrender at Yorktown. Also, he was later entrusted with the task of disbanding the army at West Point.

In 1793, Knox made preparations to become a permanent resident of Maine and employed Boston architects to prepare and erect a house, stable and the buildings for him at Thomaston. One of his chief interests was the "Waldo patent," which owned so much of the land.

After M. Pluker and family left the country and his property was taken over, Mrs. Knox who inherited her father's part, was also interested in the Waldo estate, her father having married Hannah Waldo. After the settlement, Mr. and Mrs. Knox found themselves practically the sole owners of the patent, which included land along Penobscot Bay and inland to the Kennebec River.

The home of Knox in Thomaston was a three story structure, which took a year to build, at a cost of $50,000. After his arrival here, he engaged in so many kinds of business, it was almost impossible to keep track of them and there is no doubt that he lost much of his money in this way.

He advertised extensively in Massachusetts papers for new settlers, offering favorable terms and jobs in new industries he was starting. He went into the brick-making business; the manufacture of lime from the quarry that is now part of the prison property. One of the projects, that required the employment of a large number of men, was getting out lumber on his property in Union, Appleton, and Searsport.

It involved heavy expense in getting logs to Thomaston. He was engaged to quite an extent in shipbuilding and launched several coasters which were used in his employ. On Brigadier's Island in Penobscot Bay, one of his possessions, he found some squatters and he made arrangements with them to look out for some cattle and sheep which he was importing from England. The various works he carried on brought to Thomaston large number of masons, carpenters, blacksmiths, brick-makers, lime burners, etc., many of whom became permanent residents among the neighboring towns.

Knox Hospital News

Mrs. Grace Holt, Owl's Head, began her work on Sept. 22, in the housekeeping department.

Marie Heald is recuperating at home following her discharge from the hospital, Tuesday.

Mrs. Mildred Gray of Thomaston has relieved in the housekeeping department through the Summer months, while vacations were in full swing.

Miss Beverly Glendenning, Shaw avenue, has been working with Mrs. Lowe at the switch board, preparing for relief work at a later date.

The following letter was received at the hospital from a patient:

My Dear Mrs. Polta:
It has only been in the last two or three days that I have felt sufficiently well to have the ambition to do anything other than just "nothing." Because of a hemoglobin of 52 percent, they sent me back to the hospital when I returned for another 1000 cc of blood. It helped considerably.

I consider myself so very fortunate, since illness would occur to have been a patient at your institution, and I wish to thank you in behalf of your entire staff for the many kindnesses, courtesies, understanding and co-operation.

Not given just to me as a patient, but also extended to Mrs. Reichtman and Dr. J. Geshon-Cohen. While I have had attacks of the same nature on all too many occasions, I can well imagine that Mrs. Reichtman can get quite jittery and upset when they recur. Your understanding of her difficulties is greatly appreciated by me. I have since learned that with the blood typing things were quite hectic for the better part of 24 hours. Your understanding and that of your co-workers and the co-operation of all at Knox County and at the Central Maine General Hospital speaks the finest that there is in medicine and hospital administration and conduct. Heartiest congratulations.

A. M. Reichtman, M. D., 255 South Seventeenth street, Philadelphia.

The Registered Nurses Club meets at 7:30 p. m., Sept. 28, at the Farnsworth Building. All registered nurses are invited to attend, even though you are not a member of the club. Each R. N. member may invite one guest.

by Mrs. Doris Jenkins; a reading by Mrs. Inah Overlock; discussion, "Should Boys of Eighteen Be allowed to Vote?"; stunt song; music by the kitchen orchestra a tableau; a skit. Refreshments will be served.

Knox Pomona Grange will meet Saturday with Medomak Valley Grange, Burketville.

An Old Cookbook

Was Published Away Back In 1879—Gives Cure Seasickness

Somebody has handed The Courier-Gazette a copy of "The Housekeeper's Friend," containing valuable "receipts" for those "who require economy as well as excellence." The book was published in 1879 and contains recipes for almost everything that the people of that period were eating.

Under the head of "combinations" appeared the following:

The Gibson Lime Juice Tablets are just the thing for slingers. Hard grated cheese baked with macaroni.

Eggs hard boiled and cut small in drawn butter.

Hot fried Indian pudding with Jasper's Table Syrup.

Onions with all kinds of poultry. Use caper sauce on fish and meats.

Salmon and peas make a fine dish. Eggs fried with ham.

Keep your kitchen utensils clean with "Excelsior Metal Polish."

Earthen-ware, tin-ware, pots and kettles.

Eggs fried on both sides are much better.

Put currant jelly on any kind of game. Eggs, sugar and milk beaten together a good drink.

Roast mutton and tomato sauce are nice.

Sweet breads and tomatoes. Fried eggs on toast is good.

Roast lamb and mint sauce. Ice cream with all kinds of cake.

Eat celery chopped fine with vinegar, eggs, mustard and sugar.

Nice venison and currant jelly. Drink chocolate as well as coffee for breakfast.

A good many persons, to this day, would like to know a cure for seasickness. This was what "The Housekeeper's Friend" offered:

"One who has tried the experiment avers that the best relief for sea sickness is obtained by the administration of a glass of good champagne with a strong dash of Angostura Bitters in it. A remedy of value also is nitrate of amyl; but that is dangerous, especially to full-blooded persons, who might be killed by a slight inhalation of this potent drug, and it should never be administered except by a competent and careful physician. The champagne and Angostura, we are told, act like a charm in all cases. The wine which our informant most recommends is that of De St. Marcoux & Co.; but perhaps other equally dry wines would have an equally good effect."

Likes New England

Willard Simmons Sets Foot On It Again and "Raves"

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—
Life is full of exciting experiences but I think the greatest one I have ever had occurred last Monday night at 10.10, when I set my foot on New England soil for the first time in six months.

A fast and sleek airplane had flown me from Denver to Texas. And then another had brought me from Texas to Massachusetts. Breakfast in San Antonio, Texas; supper in Westover Field, Mass.

I looked around and saw the dark outlines of hills and forests. I saw the moon and stars as they can look only in New England—and I deeply inhaled the fresh air of New England. How wonderful it all was.

Then, on Tuesday morning I got in a staff car and was driven from Westover Field to the Veterans Hospital here at Rutland Heights. All along the way I saw the trees, the hills, and the small farms that make the New England landscape so beautiful.

I arrived here at the hospital, which sits high on a hill, a spot of attractive buildings and beautiful landscaping.

Since I have been here I have been riding on a magic carpet. Each night the beautiful New England moon has shone in my window. And the food! Good, solid food that can be found nowhere else in the world but in New England. Hot, tasty baked potatoes with plenty of butter; fragrant fish right fresh from the briny deep; and tonight, Boston baked beans, brown bread, frankfurts and pickled beets—food fit for a king. The kind of food that makes a man feel full.

Rockland Had Reason To Know Her

The steamboat presented above was never in Penobscot Bay as far as known, yet many Rockland people have reason to know her. Who can tell the Steamboat Editor why this is true?

comfortable and at peace with the world.

But, best of all, is being near home. Being able to see those who are dear to you. And knowing that this means only one more step before I leave the hospital for home.

HARRY N. GUSHEE

Harry Nelson Gushee, 56, son of the late Lindley M. Gushee and Helen (Judson) Sherman, and a former resident of Appleton, died at his home, 204 Cottage Park Road, Winthrop, Mass., last Tuesday. Mr. Gushee attended the public schools of Appleton and was graduated from the Rockland Commercial College. He was a veteran of World War I and served in a voluntary capacity during World War II with the Civilian Air Raid Warning Staff of the Army Air Force's 1st Fighter Command.

For the past 27 years he was associated with the Socony Vacuum Oil Company of Boston, Mass.

Mr. Gushee was a member of Union Lodge P.A.M., of Union; the Cottage Park Yacht Club, the Winthrop Gold Club and the Pegasus Club of the Socony Vacuum Oil Company.

He leaves his wife, Lura C. (Wheeler); two sisters, Miss Rosa C. Gushee of New York and Mrs. Florence Gushee Taylor of Winthrop; an aunt, Mrs. Arthur Bliss of Winthrop; and a nephew, Thomas Taylor of Winthrop.

Funeral services were held Thursday, at 2 p. m. from Mr. Gushee's home. Interment was in Winthrop cemetery.

MRS. E. H. CHAPIN

Kate Mathews Chapin, 87, widow of Rev. Eben Hubert Chapin, died on Sept. 20, at a nursing home near Montpelier, Vt., after several years' illness.

Mrs. Chapin was born June 5, 1861, in Middlefield, Conn. She was educated at the Connecticut Normal School in New Britain, and taught for two years in the Meriden public schools. Oct. 18, 1883, she was married to Rev. Eben Hubert Chapin, and went immediately to Lincoln, Neb., where they established one of the first Western Universalist churches. In 1896, Mr. Chapin accepted the chair of applied theology and pastoral Christianity at Lombard College, in Galesburg, Ill.

In 1899, Mr. Chapin and his family moved to Rockland, Me., where he was pastor of the Universalist Church. They lived in Rockland until 1909, where Mr. Chapin died. Mrs. Chapin moved to Santa Barbara, Calif., in 1935, leaving to make her home with her daughter in New York City. In 1938, she went to Montpelier, Vt., to the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Chapin.

She is survived by two sons, Rear Admiral Nealy A. Chapin, U.S.N. (Ret.), now assistant professor at the University of Alabama, and Charles M. Chapin, Supervisor of Income, Franchise, and Inheritance Taxes of the State of Vermont; a daughter, Dr. Elsa Chapin, Head of the Department of English of Packer Collegiate Institute, Brook-

To pay respects to Freedom, Liberty, Harmony, Amity, Friendship, Hope and Unity.

I'll go to York Beach, York Harbor, York Village, and any other Yorks,

And keep on going to The Forks.

I'll commune with nature for a while

At Eagle Lake, Owls Head, Squirrel Island, Otter Creek, Seal Cove, and Little Deer Isle;

Then, with my trusty 32,

I'll be off for Moose River, Moosehead, Moosehorn, and Caribou.

I'll go to Mooselookmeguntic, Wypitlock, Webhammer, Madawaska, Mattawamkeag, Kennebag, Pemaquid, Quossoc, Passadumkeag, Kokodjo, and Kennebunk.

To Meddymemps and Caratunk. Drive on, then, boy.

To Paris, Vienna, Athens, Calais, Naples, Belfast, and Troy.

To Norway, Denmark, Sweden, Poland, China, Mexico, and Peru, And Albion, too.

Take a right turn to Starboard, but don't try to find Port on the other side

There isn't any, unless you count Bucksport, Eastport, Freeport, Jonesport, Kennebunkport, Machiasport, Newport, Northport, Rockport, Searsport, Southport, Winterport, and Port Clyde.

Now follow your nose to Grindstone, then on to Dry Mills, Steep Falls Stillwater and Dead River And when we get to Winter Harbor, Winterport, and Winterville, prepare to shiver.

We may stop briefly at Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Van Buren, Lincoln, McKinley, and even Jonesboro and Kellyland.

But this, after all, is the State of Maine, and yonder lies Hiram. Bring out the band!

—Arthur Bartlett, in the "New Yorker."

lyn, N. Y.; six grandchildren, and seven great-grandchildren.

Services were conducted in Montpelier by Rev. Herbert R. Smith of the Bethany Congregational Church. The body was taken to Boston for cremation, and burial will be in the family plot in Walnut Grove cemetery, Meriden.

PROCLAMATION

The President Speaks for the Handicapped

"One of the most important things I can think of is rehabilitating handicapped Americans and placing them in gainful occupations."

We wholeheartedly support the President in his message. This Corporation has employed several handicapped veterans this present year and looks forward to using a larger number in 1949.
